

5061 E. Hedges Ave.
Fresno 2, Calif.
January 9, 1961

Joshua Lederberg, Ph.D.
Stanford University
Palo Alto
California

Dear Doctor Lederberg:

My husband and I wish to add our congratulations on your accomplishments to the many that have no doubt already reached you.

I was one of your laboratory assistants in the spring and summer of 1951 at the University of Wisconsin. My future husband washed your glassware that summer, too. Though I'd had but a few bacteriology courses at that time, I remember how excited I was over your 'phage experiments with E. coli. When we read of your receiving the Nobel Prize as a result of these experiments, we were not really surprised, but tremendously pleased for you and your wife.

My husband is now a meteorologist at the Weather Bureau here. I received my B.S. from San Diego State College and then a Clinical Laboratory Technologist license, but am no longer working as have two small children.

I enjoyed the January 2 Time magazine article. Your present project in exobiology sounds fascinating. I am looking forward to someday reading the conclusions from your spacial probings.

My husband and I wish you continued success and greater achievements in the future.

Yours very truly,

Emily J. Bailey

Emily J. (Woodworth) Bailey

✓ 1/12/61 (87)